“Achieve Success Through Stronger Soft Skills”

Featuring

Diana Y. Hu, Ph.D.

General Manager
Geotrans Learning Center

The recent development in the financial market has provided great opportunities. As this field attracts more and more Chinese professionals with financial and technology expertise, the opportunities as well as competition have proven tremendous. While many fresh graduates are anxious about landing a programming-based position in this sector as a starter, many seasoned employees ask “where to go from here”. Stereotypical assumptions about Chinese professionals as a group may be detrimental to our career progress, but how we handle our individual careers also plays a critical role. This seminar discusses the opportunities and obstacles for Chinese professionals, focusing in particular on how to optimize career success through soft skill development, an area needing more attention from many Chinese American professionals.
